• List the experiences (e.g., work, community service activities, academic courses, leadership roles, tutoring, teaching, consulting, etc.) that have particularly prepared you for the positions for which you are applying and briefly state why.
• To determine an applicant’s qualifications and eligibility for a residential appointment, Residential Education consults with Undergraduate Advising and Research, the Office of Community Standards, Student Housing, the Office of the University Registrar, and other offices as appropriate. We also seek feedback on applicants from Residential Education staff including Residence Deans. If there is information that is likely to come forward as a result of these consultations that you would like to address (e.g., an academic standing status, policy violations, or issues that came to the attention of a Residence Dean), you may do so briefly here. A Residence Dean may be in touch with an applicant to follow up on this information. Please note that Residential Education reserves the right to withdraw an applicant from the selection process if they are not eligible or appropriate for a residential appointment.

Resident Fellows and House Staffs will be reviewing numerous applications during the staff selection period. In our experience, the responses that are most helpful for determining which candidates to invite for interviews are clear, concise, and distinct.
