Undergraduate Residential Student Leader Role

- Undergraduate residential student leaders (“student leaders”) play a critical role in the creation of safe, inclusive residential communities that support student health and well-being. Student leaders are expected to be role models for responsible behavior, personal integrity, and the exercise of mature, sound judgment in their interactions and relationships with residents.
- Student leaders serve as members of a team; are expected to work closely and maintain regular communication with their Resident Fellows (if applicable), Graduate Resident Associates (if applicable), Resident Director, and Community Coordinator; and are ultimately accountable to the Neighborhood Program Director assigned to that community.
- Neighborhood Program Directors (NPDs) serve as supervisor of record for the student leadership position and have the authority to provide feedback on performance, enact a performance plan, and remove or effectively terminate a student from their role.
- Student leader appointments are considered an educational leadership opportunity and not employment by Stanford University.

Student leaders have responsibilities in four broad categories related to the residents and communities they are appointed to serve:

1. Promote and Model Equity and Inclusion
2. Promote and Model Health and Well-being
3. Foster Community and Belonging
4. Promote and Model Intellectual & Personal Growth

Given the live-in and experiential nature of student leaders’ appointment in Residential Education, there are requirements to complete tasks during nights, weekends, some holidays, and other periods where classes are not in session.

The full obligations of the student leader roles are covered in greater detail in the role descriptions for each position.

Residential Education reserves the right to make changes to the undergraduate residential student leader terms and obligations of appointment at any time without prior notice. Furthermore, reporting obligations under the law may change at any time. Student leaders must:

- Have at least one year of guaranteed undergraduate housing remaining at the time of application for the residential student leader role.
- Be eligible to serve in a residential student leader role based on the year of matriculation at Stanford. Students who matriculated in 2022 and earlier are eligible.
- Be a registered student and enrolled in classes at Stanford in all three quarters of their appointment.
- Remain in good academic standing. Incompletes must be completed before the start of the appointment in September. If a residential student leader is placed on academic probation, provisional registration, or academic suspension during the appointment, this can be grounds for removal of the appointment.
- Be eligible to receive stipend payments associated with appointment, or be willing to forgo stipend (this may apply in particular to student athletes on full athletic scholarships).

Undergraduate Residential Student Leader Terms and Obligations of Appointment 2024 - 2025

- Be a United States citizen or permanent resident, or in a visa status appropriate to receive payments from a United States source. Student leaders are responsible for understanding how their visa status in the United States impacts their ability to work in the United States, and any restrictions to which they may be subject. Bechtel International Center can assist students who have questions about citizenship, residency, or visa status.

Placement

Students who accept placement in a student leader role are doing so for a particular residence and must live in that residence for the duration of their appointment. Student leader placements are not transferable to other residences or communities. When a student leader forfeits their placement, they are ineligible to serve as a student leader in a different undergraduate residence for the remainder of the academic year of appointment ending in June.

Accommodations

Students who have housing accommodation needs must register with the Office of Accessible Education (OAE) and should do so in advance of the student leader application and placement process. Residential Education cannot guarantee a single room for students serving in student leader roles and, depending on the residence, a placement may not meet a student leader's specific accommodation needs. If a housing placement cannot meet a student leader's accommodation needs, they may need to forfeit their student leader role in favor of an OAE room accommodation placement that will fit their needs.

Change in Academic Status (Leave of Absence, Suspension or Expulsion)

Residential student leaders may not serve in the role while on a Leave of Absence (LOA), if they are suspended or expelled, or if they are no longer enrolled as a student at the university for any period of time during the appointment term. If a student leader plans to take a LOA, or there is a change in their academic status as described in this paragraph, they must notify Residential Education of their resignation, and the cognizant Neighborhood Program Director will work with the house leadership to fill the vacant position. Students returning from a LOA are eligible to apply for future student leader vacancies in consultation with the cognizant Neighborhood Program Director.

Compliance with Fundamental Standard

Student leaders have an important role in both modeling what it means to live by the values and expectations outlined in the Fundamental Standard as well as addressing situations when residents fall short. Student leaders must:

- Understand, support, abide by, role model and thus uphold the university fundamental standard.

Health and Safety

Student leaders must:

Undergraduate Residential Student Leader Terms and Obligations of Appointment 2024 - 2025

Accountability, Standards of Conduct, and Termination

Residential Education holds the appointment and termination authority for student leaders and has the discretion to remove them from their role. Residential student leaders who are removed from their role will no longer receive a stipend payment and must vacate their designated student leader room and bed space and move into an available room and bed space elsewhere in undergraduate housing.

The student leader's appointment may be reviewed and action can be taken up to and including termination and removal from the residence at any time at the discretion of the cognizant Neighborhood Program Director upon their determination that the student leader has failed to demonstrate the judgment, diligence, or responsibility necessary to satisfactorily fulfill the student leaders role. Examples supporting such termination of appointment include but are not limited to: failure to comport oneself in a manner consistent with University expectations for the role; failure to comply with or report violations of University policies or the law (or coming under review for such violations); or failure to perform the duties and responsibilities of student leaders.

When concerns about a student leader's performance are raised but it is determined by the cognizant Neighborhood Program Director that the concerns do not yet merit termination, student leaders are required to participate in a coaching or support plan administered by their Neighborhood Program Director, and in consultation with Resident Fellows (if applicable) or Graduate Resident Associates (if applicable). Failure to meet mutual expectations and receive additional support may result in termination from the role.

Student leaders are advised to self-report any pending concerns of violations under investigation by the Office of Community Standards or Dean of Students Office to the cognizant Resident Director for transparency and support.

In the event of termination of appointment by the cognizant Neighborhood Program Director or resignation by a student leader prior to the scheduled conclusion of the appointment, the student leader may be reassigned to another residence, and all other rights, benefits, and perquisites of the student leader's status end on the date of written notice of such termination by the University.
